Experience:

Weeks has been working with SeamonWhiteside+Associates since 2006, but began as an intern while attending Clemson University. After graduating with a BLA from Clemson University, she worked for a year at HadenStanziale, PA before returning to SW+A.

During the past five years she has gained experience in master planning and land planning for both public and private sectors. Typical project types include streetscapes, mixed-use developments, single and multi-family residential communities; commercial development, civic improvement projects, and several design charrettes.

She has served as charrette coordinator both during and post charrette process on several projects. Weeks brings excellent graphic skills and creativity to the design team, and is proficient in Photoshop, In-Design, AutoCAD, and Power Point.
